Woman Was Alone.

Entering the house, it is declared, the negro assaulted Mrs. Stuckey, who was alone, after which he clubbed her into insensibility in an effort to stifle her cries. Today it is reported she is in a precarious condition.

Before lapsing into insensibility, Mrs. Stuckey informed her rescuers of the assault, naming the "trusty," whom she knew, as the perpetrator of the deed. The negro was caught and hurried to the stockade at Sanford, six

STILL HOPE THAT MISSING SAILORS

List of Dead in New Hampshire Disaster Stands at 23, with 8 Missing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.-There was still hope today that the list of probable drowned from the swamping of the battleship New Hampshire's barge in the Hudson river last Saturday night would be further reduced by reports from men set down as dead or missing, but who may still be alive but unlocated. Meanwhile the task of dragging the river for bodies of the victims was continued.

Sharp lookout also was kept for bodies swept down by the tide, it being believed that the strong current in the river made the recovery of bodies floating down the stream more probable than in the vicinity of the calamity.

Death List Unchanged.

The list today still stood as given ut by the fleet officials as twentythree probably dead and eight missing. The board of inquiry resumed its sessions again today, when it was expect-ed that the testimony of Midshipman Godfrey Chevaller, who was in charge of the wrecked boat, would be taken. The young officer, exhausted by his aster, was not sufficiently recovered yesterday to undergo the ordeal of examination
